“ I will remember Charlie as one of the most conscientious workers during our years as co-employees at the Posey County Farm Bureau Co-op. Charlie was the petroleum serviceman for the company in the NorthWest portion of the County and serviced this area with enthusiasm making sure that his many farm customer's needs were taken care of. Charles received the prestigious "Petroleum Serviceman of the year" award for the State of Indiana in his final employment year. He humbly accepted this award in the presence of the 300 Indiana Farm Bureau Co-op Petroleum State wide contenders.

His wife Francis was at his side where needed. They were able to spend retirement years together. Here Charles was at her side where needed.

“ My Sincere Sympathy to the Family of Charles, a very fine fellow who was always ready to lend a helping hand and to do it with willingness. He was driving an Oil Truck for the Co-op when I went to work for Farm Bureau Insurance in 1962. Our office was in the Co-op Building too and Charlie was always available to help when needed. My Sympathy goes out to all,
