“ Patty and family, I have no words to adequately express how sorry I am to hear about Jason passing. He was a great friend, and I loved playing music at church together. We talked quite a bit at times over the years and I know he loved you, loved his family but more than that loved the Lord. He had such a desire to play even better than he already did which came directly from his heart and spirit. His whole emphasis was to please the Lord by being a worship musician, that it would be pleasing to God's ears. I know it was, too. He had such a heart for people and loved others easily and in turn was easy to love. My heart is broken that I'll never get to talk with him again here on this earth but I know as much as my heart hurts, it's a fraction of what your grief must be. I have and will be praying for you and all of the family as you go thru these days ahead. I pray that you will feel the comforting arms of Jesus giving you strength and peace on this journey.

“ Jason had a smile that could light up a room and humor that could make anybody laugh. So many memories together from going out to eat, the movies or just hanging out at somebody's house. I will miss you sweet friend ❤️
