I went to school with Rob and I always sat behind him in class and rubbed his back and got him in trouble for me talking to much. He was so nice and good hearted. When I called him to talk he was so proud of his kids and loved his wife. Heaven got a new angel to watch over everyone.

“ Time always seems to escape us all, no matter how tight we try to hold on to it. My memory bank (which is getting weaker by the day) has very vivid recollections of a young boy (me) who idolized this young man (Robbie). It would have been hard not to. He was left handed like me, which was great when we were playing catch. He loved basketball, which was great when he would play hoops with me on his "cool rob" basketball goal. And he loved cars, which was perfect for me when he let me ride around in his red, white and black camaro. Sometimes looking back into the past I can honestly say that I couldn't have had it any better. Or been any more blessed. One of my best blessings is knowing and learning from my friend 'cool rob'. I can't wait to play catch with you again, love ya buddy.

“ Please know that I am praying for you all.. Rob was an inspiration to me dealing with the death of my sister.. But she lost her battle very fast, and Joyce wanted me to get with Rob to get her help, but we did make a trip to Vanderbilt, but there just wasn't enough time. We were inspired by Rob and his wife and thier drive to fight this and you put up one good fight.. You will be greatly missed by all... God Bless You...
