“ I met Sara the first day I arrived at WKU. When the elevator doors opened on the 8th floor of Bemis Hall, Sara was roller skating down the hallway directly towards me. I knew this was someone I wanted to get to know and it was the start of a friendship that would last the rest of our lives. For four years we lived down the hall from each other in the dorm and we shared a lot of laughs, a lot of meals, a few tears, and a lot of good times. Because I was from New Jersey and could only go home twice a year, Sara and her family invited me to their home in Tell City to share Thanksgiving, spring break, and lots of long weekends in-between. We used to count pennies to come up with the toll money for the parkway because we were so poor. And I remember "cruising" down the main street of Tell City -- this wasn't a thing where I came from. After college, we stayed in touch and spent many weekends just hanging out and doing a lot of philosophising about how to make the world a better place. We enjoyed "girls weekends" with good friends, shopping, talking, eating and, of course, pedicures. Later, children came along to add to the fun. Our sons were born six months apart and they became buddies during our weekend jaunts. We've been through a lot together, Sara and I, and I wouldn't have wanted to do it without her. Sara was a smart, funny, creative, and generous soul who will be missed by so many. I like to picture her now in the arms of her parents and with her arms around her pride and joy, Benjamin. Love you, Sara. Best friends forever. Linda

“ I knew Sara in childhood. I am a friend of her sister Cindy. We both have younger sisters and, yes, Sara liked to try to prank us. She would laugh joyfully but in the same respect, she was tender hearted and did not want to hurt our feelings! She was a jewel!

“ Sara was the cousin closest in age to me so we grew up together and into adulthood together, sharing a lot of the same ideals and views of the world and family. She was strong and sassy and loved by her whole family. A joyful and vivid memory was of Robert dancing with her at her niece Amanda's wedding, and the love for each other that was so obvious in that moment. I'm sure half the reception was in joyful tears--I was. Love you and miss you already, Sara.
